The project is intended for performers with some/good level of circus skills (any discipline) who want to explore and extend their performance range whilst engaging in a creative process and being exposed to a new performance language.

Under the Artistic Direction of Firenze Guidi, the project takes the form of a 5-day intensive residency involving performance-training work as well as research and development of individual pieces. You will be developing your performance skills as part of the ensemble work and creative process as well as focusing on your solo work. This 5-day workshop/project is intended for circus performers who want to work on or freshen up their "acts"; circus performers who are stuck or bored with their pieces; or others who have bits and pieces of material but they haven't put it together.

The workshop culminates in a public work-presentation/performance on Saturday 2 July.

The workshop is not intended to create a ready-made show for each participant but to give an initial impulse and direction for future research and development.

Firenze Guidi: is writer/director of all incarnations of Immortal and Tabú for No Fit State Circus. Firenze is currently creating Labyrinth, a large scale circus performance which will open at the Eden Project Cornwall on 29th July and will run for the whole month of August 2011 (<http://www.edenproject.com/labyrinth/>)
